WASHINGTON (AP)—A survey for a three-state national parkway from Stroudsburg, Pa., to Kingston, N. Y., was proposed Friday by six senators including Pennsylvania's Democrat Joseph S. Clark and Republican Hugh Scott.

The bill authorizing $50,000 for the study was drafted by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., joining Clark and Scott as co-sponsors were Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and Clifford P. Case, R-N.J.

Keating said the parkway could be coordinated with development of the proposed Tocks Island Dam and Reservoir National Recreation Area on the Delaware River. The parkway generally would follow the Appalachian Trail along the crest of the Shawangunk-Kittatinny Mountains in New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Girl To Name Scandal Cast

LONDON (AP)—Doctors struggled against mounting odds Friday night to keep life flickering in Dr. Stephen Ward, his latest girl friend, Julie Gulliver, pledged that if he dies she will avenge him by naming friends who deserted him in the sex and security crisis.

Three times his heart has stopped beating. Each time doctors got it started again. Electrical shock equipment was rushed to his bedside on the top floor of St. Stephen's Hospital.

Of all the girls in Ward's life, only Julie Gulliver applied for permission to see him. She was turned away.

A daily companion of Ward during his trial, the 23-year-old red-haired singer tearfully vowed: "If he dies, I'll make sure it is not in vain."

The bill narrowly escaped defeat in the House but won unanimous approval in the Senate. It was sent to Gov. Scranton for his signature.

The projects would be undertaken by the General State Authority, an independent agency created by the legislature in 1949 to issue bonds and undertake construction projects the state constitution does not permit the state to do itself.

Nominations Deals Off

HARRISBURG (AP)—The chairman of the Senate Executive Nominations Committee Friday called off "all deals" aimed at the breaking a seven-month Democratic roadblock on appointments by Gov. Scranton.

"I won't confirm some of these people and let the others stand," Sen. D. Elmer Hawbaker, R-Franklin, declared in an interview. "All deals are off."

"Certain concessions were offered to the Democrats and it was my understanding they would move the entire slate of nominations," Hawbaker stated.

Former Harvard Dean Skips Tax

NEW YORK (AP)—James M. Landis, one of the nation's most legal minds and a longtime crusader for ethics in government, pleaded guilty Friday to late payment of five years' income tax. He faces up to five years in prison.

He is a former dean of the Harvard Law School, who served under three Democratic presidents in advisory or regulatory posts. He began his government career in 1933 under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, and concluded it two years ago as an adviser to President Kennedy.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market closed out a week of seesaw action with a moderate advance Friday.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials gained 2.96 to 697.83. Volume was trimmed to 2.93 million shares from 3.41 million Thursday.

Rooney To Take Office Tuesday

BETHLEHEM — U.S. Rep. Fred B. Rooney is wasting no time getting to his seat in Washington.

His office in Bethlehem announced yesterday that he would be sworn in Tuesday, Aug. 6, at noon in Washington — one week after he won a special election to succeed the late Francis E. Walter.

The State Elections Bureau in Harrisburg said a congressman elected in a special election can be sworn in "at the will of Congress."

Congressional leaders in Washington decided Rooney could be sworn in before the election vote is officially certified.

Official Count
The official count started yesterday in the four-county 15th Congressional district.

Monroe County Commissioners, sitting as the county board of elections, made the official tabulation of votes yesterday.

Commissioner Chairman John R. Lesoine said the official count was 6,472 for Bartlett and 5,300 for Rooney — a 1,172 vote margin. Daily Record election night figures were 6,474 to 5,300 — a 1,174 margin.

Absentee ballots will be counted in the four-county district next Friday, Aug. 9, and certification by the state election bureau is expected to be made by Aug. 12. There are 664 absentee ballots in the district.

Republicans do not plan to contest the election because of the 60 voters of both parties who were illegally registered on election day in confusion over regulations for special elections. So certification seems assured.

Rooney was in Harrisburg yesterday for the final day of the 1963 state legislative session and was scheduled to fly to Washington at the end of the day.

Campaign Expenses
Miss Frances Chase, vice chairman of the Northampton County Republican committee, said Thursday the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education (COPE) should give an accounting of the money spent in Tuesday's special congressional election. COPE supported Rooney.

The State Election Bureau said that campaign expense reports by both parties must be filed within 30 days of the election.

Session Ends

Assembly Raises Hospital Aid

HARRISBURG (AP)—A new concept in state aid to hospitals to more nearly meet the actual cost of treating indigent persons was approved Friday by the 1963 General Assembly.

It was one of the last major pieces of legislation to pass as pages in both houses continued to hold back the hands of the official clocks so that the assembly could meet its official final adjournment time of 6 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, Aug. 1.

Gov. Scranton hailed the session as one of the most productive in history, telling his weekly news conference:

"I am tremendously pleased with what has been accomplished."

The Senate completed action on the hospital bill by accepting House amendments inserted a few hours earlier. It was sent to Scranton for signature.

The plan was sponsored by the Department of Public Welfare to offset the rising cost of hospital care to needy persons. It would become effective next March 1.

It provides for direct purchase of care on a formula basis, instead of the flat appropriation of up to $10 daily per patient day.

The change in concept permits sectarian hospitals to participate for the first time and will add more than $2 million to the present $15 million annual program.

The new plan permits state reimbursement for 80 per cent of the cost of the first 10 days' hospitalization, 50 per cent the second 10 days and 40 per cent for the final 10 days with a $25 per patient day limit.

Another new feature would provide up to 60 days post-hospital care in private nursing homes.

George Graff, jury foreman, reporting to John C. F. Foelker, Monroe County coroner, said:

"We believe that Mr. Theos is responsible and that it is criminal responsibility."

Witnesses at the inquest included Trooper Homer Jones of the Mt. Pocono sub-station of the Pennsylvania State Police; Dr. E. O. Headrick of Mt. Pocono; Asher Seip, Jr., Mt. Pocono, manager of the Thunderbird Inn; Robert McNulty of East Stroudsburg, a part-time cocktail waiter at the inn, and Gerald Miller of Allentown, the head bartender.

Dr. Headrick, who pronounced the victims dead at the scene, told of noticing an odor of alcohol in Theos' car as he and other persons removed him from the vehicle for first aid.

He said that the crashed occurred four feet from the edge of the pavement in the northbound lane of the highway. Closterman was driving north and Theos was headed south at the time of the crash.

In answer to a question from Dist. Atty. James R. Marsh as to how close he was to Theos, Dr. Headrick said:

"My face was within inches of his. I would say the odor (of alcohol) was coming from his breath."

Speech Incoherent
Dr. Headrick also testified that Theos' speech was incoherent, but admitted under questioning that the speech abnormality might have been a result of the accident.

Jones described the position of the cars when he reached the scene and gave detailed testimony as to the distances involved from the point of impact to where various parts of the cars and the body of Carr were found.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Genesis 12-14.

About 2000 B. C. God called a man named Abraham, from Ur of the Chaldees, to go forth from his people and found a new nation. Abraham followed God, and everywhere he pitched his tent, he built an altar immediately, so he could worship God.—Genesis 12:1-9.

Abraham and his nephew, Lot, prospered greatly in the new lands until they had such great flocks that the area could not support them both. Abraham told Lot to separate himself; Lot chose the fertile Jordan valley, so Abraham settled at Hebron.—Genesis 13.

Lot, living in the wicked city of Sodom, was captured by Chedorlaomer, aggressive king of Elam, who conquered five cities and took the people and goods. Abraham, hearing of this, led his men against Chedorlaomer and freed his nephew.—Genesis 14:1-16.

Returning from battle, Abraham was met by the grateful rulers of the cities. Among them was Melchizedek, who was king of Jerusalem and a priest of the Most High God—our God and Abraham's.—Genesis 14:17-19.

Interview With Dr. Grant On Catholic Hour Sunday

NEW YORK — Dr. Frederick Grant, one of the official delegates-observers from the Anglican Communion appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury, will be interviewed Sunday, August 4 on the Catholic Hour (NBC-TV, 1:30-2:00 p.m., EDT).

This is the first in a series of four "Conversations on the Council" produced by the National Council of Catholic Men in cooperation with NBC. Mr. James O'Garra, Managing Editor of Commonweal, is host for this special series.

Dr. Grant, who is professor emeritus of Biblical Theology from National Theological Seminary, speaks with deep affection of the late pope: "Pope John was God's gift to this generation. A marvelous man appeared in our midst . . . He was a man of vision who saw the possibility of what the Church might be in the fleeting life of ours." Dr. Grant feels that the cause of Christian unity has been phenomenally advanced by both Pope John and Cardinal Bea.

In succeeding weeks the Catholic Hour will present interviews with Father Gregory Baum, O.S.A., Professor of Theology of St. Michael's College and one of the theological experts appointed to the Vatican Council by the Holy See (August 11); Father Frederick McManus of the Canon Law Faculty of Catholic University and consultant to the Council's Commission on Liturgy (August 18); Father Edward Duff, S.J., Professor of Sociology and Ecclesiology at Western College and former editor of "Social Order" (August 24).

NEW YORK (AP)—Seventy-two corporations increased dividends last month compared with 44 in July 1962.

The Venture Of Faith

OUR LESSON today begins about 150 miles above the mouth of the Euphrates River, about six miles from the present river course and 140 miles south of Babylon. Known today as Mukayyar or Mugheir, it is just off the rail line from Basra to Baghdad. This spot was known as Ur of the Chaldees, one of the great cities of ancient times.

Its history goes back at least as far as 3500 B.C., when it was already wealthy and flourishing. The most ancient recorded historical dynasties of Sumerian kings ruled from there, and in the days of Babylonian greatness, it was the chief center of worship for the moon god, Sin, whose great temple still stands 70 feet high.

In this great center of civilization, about 2075 B.C. was born Abraham, the founder of the Hebrew race.

Perhaps Terah, his father, was given some sort of revelation to inspire him to take his family from the rich life of Ur to the city of Haran, on the way to Canaan. To Abraham God gives the direct command to take his family on to Canaan, which land God promised to him and his descendants. His sublime faith in God leads Abraham forth on this venture.

God's promises to Abraham include also his founding of the race, of God's blessing on him, of the fame of his name and of God's blessing of Abraham's friends. From Abraham's descendants have come all the Scriptures, with the probable exceptions of the book of Job and the writings of Luke. Most important of all for us, through Abraham came Jesus Christ.

Clothing Appeal

NEW YORK — (NLC) — Lutheran World Relief's annual spring drive brought in 1,573,565 pounds of clothing which is about 13 percent more than the total received in the 1962 campaign.

The Rev. Ove R. Nielsen, assistant executive secretary of LWR, reported an increase of 183,432 pounds over the spring collection last year of 1,388,113 pounds.

Of the places Abraham stopped on his journey, we may say that Shechem is now known as Nablus. It is considered the most beautiful spot in central Palestine.

Then he pitched his tent and built an altar on the mountain just east of Bethel, which means "house of God." After his return from Egypt, it was to this altar that Abraham returned. (Notice that whenever the nomadic Abraham pitched his tent, he also built an altar.) Bethel is one of the most famous religious sites in Hebrew history.

From Bethel Abraham continued toward "the South" — and the Hebrew word here translated "south" is "negeb" — the official name today for the extreme southern part of Palestine, next to Egypt. Recently this has been an arid region, but in Abraham's time it was remarkably well irrigated and heavily populated.

When it became apparent that the land around Bethel would not support the wealth of both Abraham and Lot, Abraham suggested separating.

Abraham generously offered Lot his choice of site, and Lot greedily chose the plain of Jordan, the most fertile area in all Palestine. So swayed by worldly considerations was Lot that he chose to live in Sodom, a city notorious for its moral corruption. Abraham settled in Hebron in Canaan.

In chapter 14 we have the first war recorded in the Bible. Chedorlaomer, king of Elam, was the aggressor, seizing five cities of the plain (including Sodom and Gomorrah) along the Dead Sea. After 12 years of slavery, the cities rebelled and Chedorlaomer returned to devastate them again, as well as to sweep as far north as Damascus. Abraham then took up arms and conquered the king, releasing his brother.

In verse 18 we have the first Biblical mention of Jerusalem, here called simply Salem. Notice that this city was already halloved by a king who was also "a priest of the God Most High" — Abraham's and our God.

Christian Cinema

THERE is something new in the Stroudsburgs — Christian movies! The Youth For Christ Summer schedule is composed of alternate weekly showings of inspirational films.

This week, tonight, is the Moody Institute of Science film "City of The Bees," a study of the life of the honey bee that took ten years to complete, plus countless stings and almost insurmountable photographic problems in ultra-close-up technique.

In the decade required to make "City of the Bees" Moody cameramen used up some 45,000 feet of color film. About 1,600 feet appear on the screen. Nature photography is tough work, and the camera work that is shown in this movie is "top-notch."

Moody Science films are always technically perfect in regard to photography and interwoven through all the productions is an inspired message showing the relation of all creation to one God. In the past sixteen years Moody has produced films photographing everything from fish that talk to the operation on a human heart.

The sermons from science series have proved to be very popular, being shown in churches, army bases, and university campuses. These films have been translated into fifteen foreign languages for international distribution.

Here then is the perfect answer for "something to do" on a Saturday night. Adults and young adults alike, can go to the Wyckoff recreation center at 8 p.m. and enjoy the newest of the Moody films.

You will not be charged admission, and if you so desire, you may even let the collection plate pass you by. We hope that you won't, but even if you do, you will be made most welcome.

It will be a unique experience to go home having received an inspiration from a movie dedicated to the praise of the Lord, based on facts, produced in an interesting manner — and above all — the message is not "shoved down your throat!" You, as an intelligent being, are given the facts; you make up your own mind about what you have seen.

I think that the young people of Y.F.C. have a great idea in bringing Christian movies into the area for all to enjoy. We so often say "Why doesn't somebody do something?" Well, now somebody has — and it is now up to us to support a "Christian Cinema" here in the Poconos!

I will be there tonight, and would very much like to meet you and shake your hand in fellowship. See you there!

Religion Today

Does Christianity Follow Madness?

The keyless door . . . the unutterable word . . . the shadow . . . and the mystery.

Now and then, individual pleas are raised in religious circles these days for a recapturing of the sense of the strangeness and underlying enigmas of life.

In a pragmatic world, which emphasizes logic and scientific methods, it is maintained that man is letting his mind and intellectual precision cut him off from the more mystifying notes of existence.

The claim is that strict, normal reasoning may sometimes blind the world to abnormal, unreasonable truths. It is even asked: "What is the 'message of madness'?"

A group of European theologians and psychiatrists for several years have been holding seminars and conferences on this question. A participant, the Rev. Dr. Arne Siraala, of the University of Helsinki, says:

"Traditionally, we in the Western world have refused to listen to any messages which the mentally ill have addressed to us

. . . their 'nonsense' talks. "Gradually, however, an idea, even a certain conviction has been spreading to the effect that the chaos which we encounter in the mentally ill has a human message for us."

Only by paying heed to that irrational message, he maintains, can society discover what is wrong with it and learn to make amends.

In an address at Columbia University some time ago, Dr. Norman O. Brown, professor of classics at Wesleyan University, maintained that the modern world needs "to find again the mysteries."

The so-called scientific method, he said, has substituted "method for insight, mediocrity for genius" by setting "standard operating procedure."

What our times need, he said, is "to be renewed by the discovery of new mysteries," by imagination and by "the undemocratic power which makes poets the unacknowledged legislators of mankind, the power which makes all things new."

State News Roundup

Hunting, Fishing Fees Up

HARRISBURG (AP)—Final legislative approval was given Friday to $2 increases in the hunting and fishing license fees for Pennsylvanians.

The House completed action by concurring in Senate amendments to the two bills providing the increases.

Effective Sept. 1, hunting fees, now $3.15, would go to $5.30. For minors between the ages of 12 and 16, the fee would become $3.20. The Senate knocked out a provision that the fee for persons 65 years of age or over be $3.20.

The increases would raise an estimated $1.5 million annually for the State Game Commission.

The new fishing license fees, effective next March 1, would be: Resident — $5, plus 20-cent agent's fee where applicable, compared to $3.25 and 15 cents at present; residents aged 65 or over, $2, plus agent's fee (no special category for that age group in present law).

Non-resident and alien non-resident—$9.50, plus 20 cents agent's fee, compared to $7.50 and 15 cents under present law.

Tourist (five-day)—$5, plus 20 cents, compared to $3.25 and 15 cents at present.

Both the hunting and fishing license fee proposals were sent to Gov. Scranton for final action.

Governor Gets $967,694,640

HARRISBURG (AP)—The legislature gave Gov. Scranton a major portion of his spending proposals Friday, exactly four months after he submitted his requests for 1963-64 general operating funds.

Both House and Senate adopted a compromise version of the general appropriation bill, containing $967,694,640 to cover general operations and the bulk of state subsidy programs during the fiscal year that began July 1.

With the general appropriation bill out of the way, Gov. Scranton had all but $72 million of the $1.1 billion in appropriations he requested.

The $72 million represents a package of appropriations defeated in the House when Democrats withheld their support in a policy maneuver.

$200,000-plus Shortage Seen

LITITZ, Pa. (AP)—The attorney for a finance company said Friday a preliminary audit, made because the president has been missing since mid-June, has uncovered a shortage of between $200,000 and $250,000.

W. Hensel Brown Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., counsel for the County Finance Co., said state police have been trying, without success, to locate Herbert U. Moore, 56.

Brown said Moore came to this small Pennsylvania Dutch community of 6,000 in 1954 and organized the firm in which he still owns about half of the stock.

Brown said the initial audit indicated that the shortage was caused by making false loans to non-existent persons.

No warrant has been issued for Moore's arrest, said State Police Capt. Walter Price of the Lancaster Barracks.

Dist. Atty. Alfred Alspach said his office has not been called into the case.

Brown said no official complaint would be filed until after stockholders meet tomorrow to receive a full report on the shortage.

Adventists Nix Bus Proposal

SOMERSET, Pa. (AP)—The West Pennsylvania Conference of Seventh-day Adventists said Friday it opposes proposed legislation that would provide bus transportation for parochial school children in Pennsylvania.

A telegram opposing the legislation was sent from the conference's annual meeting to a senate-house conference committee which is considering the proposal.

The conference said such aid would amount to direct assistance to parochial schools.

The resolution was proposed by Francis W. Wernick of Pittsburgh, president and religious liberty secretary of the conference.

McKinney Plant Scranton-bound

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The McKinney Manufacturing Co. will move its metals fabricating plant from Pittsburgh to Scranton, W. R. Julius Jr., company president, said Friday.

The move from McKinney's old facilities on the city's North Side will start around next Jan. 1 and should be completed by March, 1964, Julius said.

Some 380 people are employed here, and Julius said they would be permitted to continue with the company in Scranton. "We're going to offer jobs to all of our people," he said.

All Of This In

Jointure Or Union?

The school reorganization bill passed by the state legislature this week will require all school districts to draw up again plans for reorganization and enlargement or explain why they should not be changed.

That explanation and that escape clause is made very easy by the watered-down bill finally approved by the legislature. See story on the back page for the numerous reasons which may be given for not reorganizing into larger districts of 4,000 pupils.

The bill is so weak that it could cause a great waste of legislators' and school boards' time and effort and taxpayers money by requiring new reorganization plans. Earlier plans were drawn up after the stiffer 1961 reorganization bill was passed.

At that time, the one union and three jointures of Monroe County submitted a plan calling for a county-wide school district with 8,000 pupils. It would have one top administrator and would create a number of new intermediate administrative posts.

That plan was drawn up under pressure from the state and was protested by the schools districts of the county. Other protests from all over the state against the 1961 law's requirement of a 4,000-pupil population minimum in new school districts led to this year's repeal of the 1961 law and passage of a weaker bill.

But the new bill does offer an opportunity for the school boards and jointure boards of Pleasant Valley, Pocono Mountain and East Stroudsburg to submit plans for reorganization from jointures into unions.

There is considerable support for this move in each of the jointures, where the duplication of efforts by district school boards and jointure school boards is a waste of board members' time and taxpayers' money.

The simpler operation of a union, proved by Stroud Union's experience in comparison with that of the jointures in the county, should prompt jointure board members to give serious study to plans for reorganization as unions.

Self-Defeating Protests

President Kennedy remarked during his Thursday press conference that some recent Negro demonstrations for jobs and civil rights were "self-defeating" and "rather fringe actions."

He apparently was referring to some illegal efforts to stop construction jobs by hanging on to cranes and lying in the streets in front of trucks and also to the use of very small children in demonstrations.

"A quick demonstration in the street is not the immediate answer," Kennedy said.

And he is right. Some recent demonstrations have been self-defeating and have done more harm than good to the Negro cause.

But, as the President said, the diminishing intensity of civil rights demonstrations should not lead us to think the problem has been solved.

Important and necessary civil rights legislation is now going through the legislative process in Washington.

It needs all the support it can get, and will not be helped by violent demonstrations, no matter how just their cause.

Dear Abby

Doesn't Know The Score

Dear Abby: I hope you won't think this is too trivial to answer. I have recently begun to go out with a distinguished bachelor who is in his fifties. He is a widower in his forties. He has escorted me to the ballet, concerts, and symphonies. He is a patron of the arts and I love music. But, Abby, when he sings along with the performing artists, or orchestra, I want to run and hide. I haven't the courage to tell him how much this annoys me, and the "looks" he gets from those seated near us don't seem to penetrate. Is there a polite way to tell him how I feel? I don't want to lose him.

EMBARRASSED

Dear Embarrassed: He appears to be a man who wants everyone to know that HE knows the score. Tell him in a friendly way that his "singing along" bothers you and those around you. If he has done this unconsciously, he'll appreciate knowing. If he is aware that he's disturbing others and doesn't care, he's selfish and inconsiderate, in which case, if you lose him, you haven't lost much.

I have taken, but I cannot be a hypocrite. I have debated writing this letter to you for over a month but, somehow, I feel that your wise counsel will help me. Sincerely,

WITHHOLD MY NAME

Dear Mrs. —: Under the circumstances you should not be condemned for refusing to go through the motions of a grieving widow. You have suffered enough humiliation. Don't let his family, or yours, punish you further.

Dear Abby: We have a seven-year-old grandson who is smart as a whip. The big problem is that he uses some of the dirtiest words in the English language. At first we thought he didn't know what he was saying, but he uses the words in all the right places. His parents said he must have picked it up at school. His parents tell us to pretend not to hear him. How can you pretend, Abby? My husband almost choked once, and I came close to fainting. What should we do?

HIS GRANDPARENTS

Dear Grandparents: Seven-year-olds who are this smart in the head should "smart" some place else more often.

Confidential To "Interested Party": Read Proverbs 26:17: "He who seizes a passing good by the ears is he who meddles in a quarrel not his own."

Tell your troubles to Abby. For a personal, unpublished reply, please send a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Alcohol, Gasoline Don't Mix

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

ALCOHOL and gasoline just do not mix.

The relationship between injuries or fatal automobile accidents and the consumption of alcohol has been definitely established. In fact, it is estimated that a driver who has had four alcoholic drinks is four times as dangerous as the driver who has had only one. And the driver who has had only one drink has more accidents than the driver who has had none.

When the havoc of drunken driving is compiled at the end of the year, it is apparent that "the life you lose is only your own" is a complete misconception. For the lives of others are threatened whenever a driver turns on the ignition and "puts her in high while high."

Eliminated Slowly

Drinkers who expect to drive are under the impression that a cup of coffee and an hour's rest will bring back the reflexes necessary for safe driving. As a matter of fact, alcohol is eliminated from the body at the very slow rate of about one-third of an ounce per hour. Four drinks of two ounces each would take a fair number of hours to clear the brain.

There are no short-cuts to sobriety. The man who says, "Don't worry about me, I'm not too drunk to drive," has been proven wrong too often.

Electronics In Surgery

One of the distressing complications of abdominal surgery has been the failure of the intestines to reestablish their normal function after the operation. At such times, the patient has been required to use a special kind of stomach tube in an effort to revitalize the intestinal activity. Often this re-activation has seemed to be the turning-point to recovery.

Dr. Owen Wangersten of the University of Minnesota devised this tube which bears his name. The tube has been responsible for the post-operative recovery of thousands of patients.

Prophetic Extension

Now, from the same University of Minnesota, comes a prophetic extension of that scientific achievement. A team of surgeons and engineers have applied the principle of an electronic device frequently used in heart surgery to eliminate this complication of abdominal operations.

A delicate electrode is now inserted into the stomach and intestines and, with slight, painless shocks, helps reinstate the onset of normal intestinal activity. This newer method seems to have the advantage of quicker action and causes less annoyance to the patient.

To Dr. Wangersten's distinguished accomplishment has been added this imaginative contribution to the increased safety of abdominal surgery and the early return of patients to good health.

Stroudsburg Speech

Antiquated Constitution

By Mrs. Robert McGeehan

(Mrs. McGeehan of West Hazleton was a member of the 1967 Woodside Commission on Constitutional Revision. This is part of a speech she gave at the Penn-Stroud Hotel Thursday night to the new Monroe County Committee for Constitutional Revision.)

Have you ever tried to read the Pennsylvania Constitution? It is quite a task. It is long and in many parts it is difficult to understand.

In its detail lies serious denials of power to the departments of government, the gravest restrictions falling on legislative power.

It first grants power — "The legislative power of this Commonwealth shall be vested in a general assembly." Then it proceeds through many sections to limit that power.

These restraints are by no means confined to the legislative articles but are scattered so generally through the document that our legislature finds itself with a very limited sphere of action.

Reapportionment

Correlative to this handicap on our legislature, the constitution makes no provision for enforcing legislative reapportionment so that great imbalances result.

The rural areas are overrepresented in our legislature, the urban areas seriously underrepresented, accounting for the fact that our legislature is so often unresponsive to some of our serious needs.

Court System

The court system created by this constitution was just fine in 1874. The authors of this document, conscientious and able though they were, suffered one serious handicap.

They seemed to have no vision of a future in which conditions might be any different from those existing in their own day.

It is interesting that those who created the federal Constitution had a different point of view. They said what they had to say about a judicial system for the nation in four brief sections, exclusive of defining treason and its punishment.

Pennsylvania's judicial article embraces 27 long sections and has had to have considerable amending along the way.

So we find ourselves with an antiquated, inadequate judicial system.

Over-Amended

The whole area of devolution of power to counties and to local governments is too detailed and too rigid to deal with many aspects of modern life.

Finally the constitution has been amended so many times that it is difficult to understand. One thing is clear — the constitution of Pennsylvania is what the courts have said it is, rather than what the words of the document express.

Governor Succession

If we are to weigh the consequences of its shortcomings, we ought to begin with the executive provisions though they are less in need of change than any of the other major articles.

Here the previous denial of power lies in not allowing our governors successive terms in office. Many of us were shocked that the proposed amendment of this provision, whose advantages seem self-evident, was not approved by the people.

Citizens clearly do not realize what this prohibition has cost us in lack of over-all planning and follow-through on present programs, in consistent and persistent approaches to the difficult problems of this state.

It takes nearly half of a governor's term to lay plans, during the rest of his term he is in a position of diminishing power.

Financial Block

Turning to the legislature, perhaps its gravest problems lie in the area of finance. So hamstrung are the fiscal powers of the general assembly that the remark made years ago that we are "a commonwealth in bondage" is only too true.

The legislature may not borrow money for capital improvements without amending the constitution, in spite of the fact that no business could operate under such circumstances.

It has had to resort to the authority to finance more and more programs thereby using tax dollars in a most inefficient manner.

Tax Limitations

Its powers of taxation are similarly limited. Since its provisions as presently interpreted allow neither graduation nor exemptions, the only recourse is to taxes, which in the past, have been burdensome to business and work a hardship on many taxpayers, particularly those of limited means.

Teacher Salaries

These restrictions have managed to keep this state in a most unenviable position among the states.

For instance only West Virginia, among our neighboring states, pays lower teacher salaries. . . . It means that many of our ablest teachers are being bid away from us by more attractive offers from other states.

If you have ever wondered why your school board does not hire better teachers you might give some thought to this aspect of the problem.

Inefficient Courts

Our court system constructed with such care in our constitution is today a headless, inefficient, state-wide business, an important part of which is in the hands of people qualified only on the basis of their political power.

Good judges are hampered by political pressures and injustice and delay are quite frequently the order of the day.

About Town

Grandma Fix:

Five-year-old Mike came running to his grandmother, crying. He had been stung by a bee. "What have you been doing?" his grandmother asked.

"Hunting bees," replied Mike. "Don't you know bees will sting you?" his grandmother said.

"Okay," said Mike, "take the two out of my pocket."

Bee-Mused

Hey! Didja hear about the girl whose mother told her so much about the birds and bees that she had a terrible time getting interested in men?

Much has been written and said about the Tocks Island boondoggle in the Delaware River, a beautiful, classic river, the only one of its kind in America.

Its beauty and worth are now about to become a thing of the past and the tax ridden taxpayer is about to part with another quarter billion dollars of his sweat-earned cash.

It's no secret that this is another public works. If public works we must have, let it be for schools and libraries for we are in need of these obviously!

Americans are aware that men in politics are generally status conscious individuals, unusually with mediocre qualifications, who wish to occupy positions above the common herd. This does not make them great patriots.

Plato said, "Poverty consists not so much in small property as in large desires." Let us desire that which creates happiness—to be solvent, to pay only for what we need, to conserve our land, never to be fooled by illusions of grandeur.

HARRIET T. CLOSE, Shawnee-on-Delaware

DEAR MR. EDITOR:

Tocks Island Will Drown Best Land

Editor, The Daily Record:

Omitted in the report of our protest of Tock's Island Dam Friday, July 26, was the main point. This is that the dam will drown the best land in the four adjoining counties. Above all, this is not conservation, something well understood and appreciated by Mr. Udall.

Land, is the more important resource, because it is non-renewable and good land is scarce and becoming more so through developmental purposes. The best land, as along the Delaware has the greatest number of potential uses.

Water, though scarce at times, does not change ever in the total amount. Though there is ever increasing usage, there is, at the same time, a corresponding need for greater conservation—through pollution prevention, by metering usage in the municipalities to avoid waste, and by controlling runoff.

Dams, if they are to be built, should be in the headwaters and on the tributaries where most of the damage occurs in flood times. Where they will provide water supply to the streams feeding into the Delaware and also to communities like Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

The small watershed program of the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture and a Pennsylvania state program of dams on streams like the Brodheads and Bushkill Creeks provides such construction.

The main benefit of Tock's Island vs. the forementioned is to provide greater recreation potential for motorboating and waterskiing, for example. The appeal presented by Tock's Island is that since federal government pays most of the cost and the state has the power of condemnation, the cost to the local people will be very little, as will the need to secure easements or condemn property. Somewhat illusory thinking, but definitely beguiling.

The important point of Mr. Udall's speech was his stress on the necessity of planning and zoning, with or without Tock's Island dam.

Much of the land in the proposed recreational area has little unique value to set it apart on the scale contemplated, as would smaller parcels in the general area. There would be little gained by including the Worthington tract, owned by New Jersey, in a national recreational area. Worse, if Tock's Island goes through, it is understood to mean the virtual destruction of the very lovely Sunfish Pond.

This, presently accessible only on foot, and used by increasing numbers of hikers on the Appalachian Trail, has been given to the electric company by the state, in exchange for other land. It will be used for pump storage only in the event of Tock's Island. The amount of electricity produced hardly seems worth the loss of this beautiful wilderness area.

I would hope there could be greater debate, on as well as pro, on these actions that will affect the area. These projects are proposed, and carried out, in many other areas. The privilege of expressing one's views is cherished.

Rooney Biting The Hand That Feeds Him

Editor, The Daily Record:

In his victory comments to the press on Tuesday night, our new Congressman inferred that the special election he had just won was unnecessary and blamed the cost of the campaign on "petty politics of Governor Scranton."

In the same breath he promised to vote for the "very important" area redevelopment bill now pending in Congress. It is ironic that he now will have the opportunity to vote on this legislation only because he was elected to office in this special election.

Nearly 80 per cent of the electorate turned out to cast their ballots on Tuesday, a clear mandate that the people of the 15th District want to be represented in Congress NOW. Congressman Rooney seems ungrateful and appears to be biting the hand that has just fed him.

It is hoped that he will begin to concentrate on the issues in Washington and will meet the roll calls of Congress when medical care for the aged, taxation, civil rights, and the much other significant legislation will shortly demand his decision.

The campaign is over! Bruce Anderson East Stroudsburg

Tocks Island 'Monster'

Editor, The Daily Record:

A few days ago, a New York newspaper ran an interesting story about the proposed Breezy Point park on Long Island near Rockaway Point.

Among the people who are fighting this project is Emanuel Celler, the congressman from the area. His objection to it is based on his awareness that it would uproot "a vibrant, viable community" of 2700 persons and would be too expensive.

Here in the Delaware valley, we are confronted with a similar situation—that "monster," as someone referred to it, Tocks Island Dam.

Instead of our member of congress and our senator fighting against it, they are fighting for it! Apparently, we people in the valley are neither vibrant nor viable.

We do not enjoy the zest of living and we are not entitled to live where we have always lived and where we want to remain.

The dam has also been called an "outrage." It is worse than that: it is outrageous that for the sake of people who do not belong here, we should be driven out against our wishes.

Youths Held As Vandals, Burglars

EAST STROUDSBURG — Four juveniles were apprehended by East Stroudsburg police Thursday, two for a pair of burglaries and the other two for vandalism.

Police Chief Travis Seese said two 15-year-olds, one from Stroudsburg and one from East Stroudsburg, were picked up for a Wednesday morning burglary at the home of Mrs. Jack Lantz, 233 E. Brown St., in which about $150 in cash, Mrs. Lantz' operator's license and a transistor radio were taken.

Seese said one of the pair also admitted entering the home of Mrs. Zaza Smith, 336 Broadhead Ave., yesterday morning. Nothing apparently was taken. The two were taken before Judge Fred W. Davis in Monroe County Juvenile Court and were committed to juvenile quarters of Monroe County Jail pending a hearing. Seese said both had previous records of juvenile offenses.

The vandals, aged eight and nine and both from East Stroudsburg, were released in the custody of their parents pending Juvenile Court action. Seese said they broke through 50 and 75 small windows and smashed large quantities of clay and plastic flower pots in a barn on the property of Miss Ruth Flory, 99 N. Courtland St., which is rented by Spencer and Siegfried, a landscaping firm.

ASSATEAGUE Island, Md., is probably the largest undeveloped seashore between Cape Cod and Cape Hatteras, N. C.

Bangor Boro Loses 1st Court Round

BANGOR — Preliminary objections of the Bangor Borough School District were dismissed in a ruling Wednesday by Northampton County Judge Carleton T. Woodring.

The school district is being sued by the executors of the Mary E. Flory Steinmetz estate, who claim the school district signed a contract last March stating that it would buy a dwelling at 44 S. 3rd St. in Bangor, for $19,200.

The school district made a partial payment of $1,920, but allegedly refused to pay the remainder.

In its objections to the action by the executors, the school district claims the action should be in equity, not assumpsit, as it is. Further, they contended, if the complaint "can be brought over to the equity side of the court, the plaintiffs have an adequate remedy at law for the damages."

Its last contention was that the complaint is premature in that judicial interpretation of the 17th paragraph of the will should be made first in order to determine if the executors have the power to sell the property.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Everybody needs a hidey-hole — a place where between their public and family life they can be themselves. Not a steeple of their job, whatever it may be; not Mother or Big Sister, or Son, in capital letters, with whatever qualities the title implies, but an individual with all the idiosyncrasies and human failings which go with their own personality.

An "image", public or private, has become a popular Madison Ave. term which politicians and movie stars take very seriously. It is also a term which all of us make more seriously than we often like to admit. And often work very hard trying to live up to, be it podiatrist or puff ball, domestic paragon or Don Juan, sophisticated or sentimentalist.

Nobody is all anything. The intellectual hides his weakness for Westerns. The social butterfly hides her deep feelings about unpopular social injustices. The perfect housewife nourishes a yen for being, just for once, a Femme Fatale. Don Juan gets awfully weary of making passes when what he'd really like to do is let out his paunch and watch television.

Making like you're bored all the time can be as wearing as bubbling over with enthusiasm for something you really don't enjoy. And it must be awfully hard for the sentimentalist to admit that she really doesn't enjoy the company of her friends' children.

Therefore a hidey-hole can be worth its weight in gold, and when, through no special attributes of your own but merely because they enjoy your company, somebody else lets you into their hidey-hole it is the ultimate in hospitality.

That's the way I felt about being invited by John and Sally Ferber for supper in their Garden Room, with other people they — and I — enjoy. They don't owe me anything — quite the reverse. And don't expect anything — no pencil, no notebook, no brains.

Well, that's what they got — and didn't mind a bit. Or maybe that's part of their public private image — but if so, it was extremely well done and for one, in that setting and with that particular group, I was quite satisfied

They will confer with the Rev. Larry Lindenmuth and the Rev. Denton Covert before setting the date for the retreat, which will be open to the membership.

Ballet In Mind? You Should Have Started Long Before

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
Many teenagers dream of becoming ballet dancers, but if they haven't begun to study by that time, they should forget it. The long, hard road to fame begins in childhood, says ballet dancer Sarah Thomas, 18.

It may well be the costliest career in the world, she says; expensive lessons and a large wardrobe of shoes are a must. And then just when most careers pay off because of experience—age 40 or so—the ballet dancer's life is finished.

"But at about 40, I guess you'd be tired anyway," says pretty, dainty Sarah of Phillipsburg, N. Y., youngest member of the National Ballet of Canada.

Only American There
Sarah took 17 pairs on her first tour. They cost about $7.50 a pair. She darts her ballet shoes across the toes to make them softer and wets the heels of them to make them fit better. She wears expensive toe shields of plastic to keep her toes in alignment.

Watches Diet
She keeps her weight to 100 pounds, about right for her 5-foot-4 frame.

"There shouldn't be any fat ballet dancers. You are supposed to keep your weight down, and all the hard work helps. But I also watch my diet, drinking non-fat milk, eating meat and vegetables. It is fashionable to entertain ballet dancers on tour in most cities, and we are likely to be served little finger sandwiches. After that you haven't an appetite."

Like most ballet dancers, she has little time for dates.

"But many girls date boys in the company. And marry them," she says.

of rehearsals and performances — Sarah has managed to snare some good reviews. "And that makes it all worth while," she says after 60 cities and 30,000 miles.

In Kansas City as a peasant in "Giselle," the review described her as "nimble and airy, charmed competently." In Tennessee, they found that "she was in no way over shadowed by the prima ballerina who followed her on stage."

"People ask if I get nervous when I dance, but I try to relax and enjoy myself and that makes it seem easy. But when a pas de deux is over and I begin to think about it, I do get nervous."

There are times when she gets tired of dancing, but then she hears the music "and I want to dance right away," she says.

Baby Teeth Fill Mailbox For Research On Strontium

By Janet Kask

Montreal (AP)—"How a little nobody from Cote St. Luc could get involved in something like this, I don't know," says Mrs. Ethel Kesler, the Montreal housewife who started women across Canada saving baby teeth for scientific research.

Mrs. Kesler, a former social worker, has aroused international interest in her Montreal Baby Tooth Survey and has just been asked to write a paper on her work for Dr. Benjamin Spock, the renowned baby expert.

The mailbox at her suburban Cote St. Luc home is jammed with teeth and inquiries from mothers as far away as the Yukon. Sometimes entire sets of baby teeth arrive and she has even received teeth from dogs and cows.

Scientists agree that teeth shed by children are an invaluable source of information about the absorption in the human body of strontium 90, thought to be the most dangerous of radioactive materials produced in a nuclear explosion.

Began in St. Louis
The first tooth survey was set up by St. Louis housewives, who have collected more than 110,000 deciduous teeth since 1958, following a suggestion by Dr. Herman Klacker, Johns Hopkins university biochemist, in a science journal. Scientists at Washington University in St. Louis, aided by the U. S. Public Health Service, use the teeth to study effects of strontium 90 on children's bones.

Concerned about radiation hazards for some time, Mrs. Kesler learned about the St. Louis project, and, in 1960 began what snowballed into a national baby tooth collection in Canada.

The Montreal baby tooth survey began under the sponsorship of the Quebec Campaign for Nuclear Disarmament. This year Voice of Women has taken over the project, now operating in eight Canadian cities. Dr. Ursula Franklin, a physicist with the Ontario research foundation and the University of Toronto, is directing it.

Retired Pastor Has Many Calls For Service

Newfoundland—Sunday morning will be a busy one for the Rev. Dr. Frederick G. Fulmer, retired Moravian minister who served the Newfoundland church for many years.

At 8:30 a. m., Dr. Fulmer will speak on "The Memory of Jesus," during morning worship at the Waymart Presbyterian Church. The church is presently without a pastor, and Dr. Fulmer will serve as a supply.

At 10 a. m., he will be at the Honesdale Baptist Church, speaking on "God's Love." He will fill the pulpit in the absence of the Rev. Carl Baskin.

At 11 a. m., the theme, "Be Still and Know God," will be used by the local minister, at the Honesdale Presbyterian Church, in the absence of the Rev. Norman Dunmore.

That latter service was to have been broadcast, but there has been difficulty with the organ at the church, and the broadcast had to be postponed.

During the day, and for dinner, the Fulmers will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stryker, of Honesdale.

THE WYCKOFF SHOPPER

I'm not sure why everyone living outside of the state considers Pennsylvania "all Dutch" . . . but they do, and for the benefit of our visitors we stock a big variety of Pennsylvania Dutch merchandise in our store. For instance, shoppers can take home from our International Gift Center some of the handsome pieces of Pennsylvania Pottery that are distinctly Dutch and Amish in design. There are pie plates with quaint sayings . . . salt and pepper shakers in the form of Amish heads, one a man, the other a woman . . . tiles that may also be used as plaques . . . sugar and creamer sets . . . and numerous incidental dishes. We also stock some of the ironware, trivets and such, that have a Pennsylvania Dutch motif.

In our Stationery Department are all types of paper-bound books, many of them handsomely illustrated, that dwell on various facets of Pennsylvania Dutch and Amish life. For instance, you'll find: How to Paint and Decorate Furniture and Tinware by Jacob and Jane Zook at 1.50 . . . Pennsylvania Dutch Pies and Pastries, 25c . . . Hex Signs in Full Color, 50c . . . Pennsylvania Dutch Country and Amish Land, 75c . . . Quaint Idioms and Expressions of the Pennsylvania Germans, 35c . . . The Amish-Dutch Cookbook, 50c . . . Antiques in Pennsylvania Dutchland, 1.00 . . . Pennsylvania Dutch Food Cookery, 50c . . . The History of Pennsylvania, 40c . . . Covered Bridges of Pennsylvania Dutchland, 1.00 . . . and The Realness of Witchcraft in America, 40c. Our Stationery Department also sells packages of 12 authentic Hex Signs for indoor use—six different designs in two sizes—for 1.00.

Any one of these, or a combination of booklets, would make an interesting gift for someone at home who has never visited the Poconos. Something really hextra special!

"So you'd like to live in a glass house," Cora Alberson commented when I met her at the foot of the main stairway the other morning. "Well, I have something new in my department that would be quite the thing for a gal in a glass house to wear . . . come see."

The Lingerie Department's latest acquisition is pajamas that are exquisite for lounging as well as for sleeping. The pants are slim, sleek, opaque black nylon. The blouse is rose noir print with softly draped, very sheer collar and long, puffed sleeves of black nylon mist. The wide cuffs are buttoned with rhinestones. They are heavenly! Cool too, I have no doubt, but they fairly sizzle with glamour. Sized from 32 to 38, the price is 16.95, but those black roses are potent stuff!

Also new in Lingerie are Van Raalte's saucy Pettit Ties, one leg of which is harlequin-print, both front and back, while the remainder of the garment is solid color. See these in Flamenco or Black with white, at 3.95 . . . And do see the stunning new shifts in our Women's Fashions Department. Black as jet, lined, with either no sleeves or tiny caps, some have mandarin neckline, beaded with a jet sunburst over the bodice. Prices begin at 18.00. These are sultry and sinuous, loaded with importance. Don't miss them!

BLACK JET—even to her boots is model wearing slim dinner dress from Cecil Chapman's collection. The black pebble crepe is all-over embroidered in black jet beads. The black jet hat is by Lilly Dache and the black jet embroidered silk boots by David Evins.

Quick Shortcuts For Light Desserts For Summertime

By Linda Pipher

It's always nice to see something new on the market, but even nicer when you try it and find it good. One of my "finds" this summer may not be new to you—maybe I'm behind the times. At Ackerman's Store in South Stroudsburg, I picked up a package of individual tart shells which were baked and set in foil pans. I was happy to find, too, that they were individually wrapped, for they can be stored in the freezer and kept for a quick dessert or unexpected company.

I thickened fresh blueberries and served them with a dab of whipped cream, and they were so effective it looked as if I had spent the day in the kitchen baking! To be even quicker, you could fill them with packaged pudding mixes, or commercially jarred pie fillings that do not have to be cooked. The following recipe can be used for any fresh fruit, though you might want to vary the seasoning; for example, use almond flavoring with peaches in place of the salt, or cinnamon with cherries.

Blueberry Tarts
Sort and wash 1 pint box (2 cups) fresh blueberries. Place in a saucepan and pour in 1 cup boiling water. Simmer for five minutes. Remove from heat and drain off juice.

Mix together:
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1/4 teaspoon salt

Gradually add 1/4 cup water. Add cooked berries and cook over low heat for 7 to 8 minutes, stirring frequently. Stir in 1 tablespoon butter or margarine. Cool and pour into 6 individual baked tart shells. Refrigerate until serving time.

The following day when I was in the store again, I was showing them to Jane Foelker and telling her how good they were. She was buying cake mix and pudding mix to make an unusual cake. Bess Mader had given her the recipe and many people had tried it and found it to be good. Baked in a tube pan, it has the consistency of a sponge cake. Although it calls for any kind of pudding mix, Jane used butterscotch and it made a big hit at her house. As the recipe has made the rounds of the Gray Ladies at the hospital, we'll call it the:

Gray Ladies' Cake

Put altogether in a mixing bowl:
1 box white cake mix
1 box pie and pudding mix, any flavor
4 eggs
1/2 cup salad oil
1 cup water

Beat on medium speed of electric mixer for 5 minutes. Pour into an ungreased tube pan and bake at 350 degrees for 50 minutes. Cool and serve plain or with your favorite frosting.

For you blender lovers, here's a dessert you can make in a jiffy and I guarantee the family will love it. It's pretty, too. On the bottom is the sparkling gelatin dessert, topped with a frothy snow on which you put the pudding sauce. For company touch, add a cherry. This is another recipe you can vary; I used lemon gelatin, but any flavor would be as good.

Quick Summer Pudding

Dissolve 1 box lemon gelatin in 1 cup hot water. Place in blender and add 1 cup finely chopped ice. Whiz 40 seconds and pour into six sherbert glasses.

For sauce put in blender:

1 box instant vanilla pudding mix
3 cups milk

Whiz until thoroughly blended and pour into a jar. At serving time, put enough sauce on top of gelatin snow to fill glasses. (As this makes more sauce than needed, save and either eat plain or serve on gingerbread the next night — delicious!)

Marie Jacobsen told me of a light dessert that she likes. In a bowl or refrigerator tray she puts a layer of crushed zwieback crumbs, a layer of sweetened applesauce, and a layer of whipped cream. Keep refrigerated until serving time. Doesn't that sound good?

Here's a recipe for an easy summer dessert that you might like to try:

Orange Sherbert

1 cup evaporated milk
1 can (6 oz.) frozen orange juice concentrate
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt

Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray or refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into chilled bowl and whip with rotary beater until stiff. Combine undiluted orange juice concentrate, sugar and salt, and add 1 tablespoon at a time, whipping until very stiff. Turn into freezer tray and freeze until firm. Yields 1 1/2 quarts. Tangerine or limeade concentrate may be substituted for orange juice concentrate.

Wearing Thinking Cap On The Beach Helps Mother Come Up With Career Idea

By Roberta Fleming Roesch

If you're a career-minded mother who's bored with sitting on the beach while you take your children swimming, why not use those idle hours to comb your background for career ideas you can develop from scratch?

"That's literally what I did," reports zestful Blanche Zeller of Verona, New Jersey, who, as a professional theatrical agent, first created and then put wings to a unique job idea at a local swim club.

Only Woman With License As a result, she tells us, she now has the distinction of being the only woman booking agent in her state licensed by the American Guild of Variety Artists. In her work, as she's developed it, she buys and sells talent for professional entertainment for any budget.

For example, she furnishes her clients with talent ranging from an accompanist to a Broadway show. Also she packages shows for schools, organizations and fund-raising programs.

Mrs. Zeller is an enthusiastic specialist, too, in supplying entertainment for industrial plants, shopping center promotions, colleges, business associations and, of course, swim clubs.

Idea Came At Beach "I really did get my original idea for booking talent and packaging shows while sitting it out on the beach with the kids at a swim club," she told us while we talked with her at New Jersey's "Meadowbrook" dinner theater where she books theater parties.

"All my life I'd thought in terms of talent, entertainment and shows," she answered when we probed for the background that led to the idea at the swim club. "Before my marriage I was a piano major and an accompanist on radio. And both before and after my marriage I'd package and produce volunteer shows whenever I could, just for the fun of it."

She Now Assembles Variety Shows For Schools Or Clubs.

By the time one of Blanche's four children—Susie—was five and showed talent for dancing, acting and music, Blanche's natural bent for doing something with talent led her to taking Susie on the rounds for radio, television and other show business jobs.

"I was terribly green about the business side of the entertainment field, though," she said, "and I'd always have to drag all my other youngsters to New York while we took Susie for a job. But we made it, and from the experience I learned a lot about how talent is handled."

Added To A Career

What Blanche didn't know immediately, though, was the fact that the knowledge she'd learned through her daughter's job, plus her own talent for doing something about talent and putting on shows would combine to jell into a career.

Then it happened at the swim club.

Was Hired "When I got bored just sitting on the beach, I put my mind to work," she said, "and came up with the idea that the club ought to hire me to put on a good program of talented, professional entertainment for them. To my surprise they said 'Go ahead.'"

"When the show was a success the club gave me a regular job booking talent for them. Then, with that as a start, I went into business as a booking agent and developed the work I do now."

Beakleyville Guild

Beakleyville—The Beakleyville Community Guild will meet at the home of Gordon Bitterman on Tuesday for the annual doggie roast. All those attending are asked to bring baby pictures of themselves or other unusual photographs which will be shown on a projector screen as part of the entertainment. They are also asked to bring table service.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message they give you under the checked figure.

A COUPLE of chipper Yankees (not to be confused with Yankee Clippers because they do not yet rate the distinction of that superstar Joe DiMaggio), Ralph Terry and Harry Bright ripped through three of the Pocono golf courses during their two-day tour here which ended yesterday.

Terry hits a golf ball as well as he throws a baseball—and that puts him among the more notable ranks of goldfom. Bright may not be a brilliant (pardon the play on words) with the woods and irons, but he shines as well as anybody's utility player on the links just as well as on Ralph Houk's American League destructibles.

The Yankee duo toured the Tannin, Water Gap and Pocono Manor courses as if they played them all year long. Terry was particularly brilliant at Water Gap where he drew the praise of golf pro Sam Kinder who remarked, "He ought to be a golf pro . . . but I guess he's doing pretty well right where he is."

That, perhaps, could rank as the understatement of the year in the world of sports.

Terry learned the game, by the way, from one Jerry Volpe when Jerry was golf pro at Englewood (N. J.) CC and the two teamed against Kinder and Bright in their match at Water Gap. The four—battled through four sudden-death playoff rounds and when it was still all tied they decided to call it quits for the day.

The Yankee hurler toured the course in a 73—only one over par. Perhaps—if you can take the word of Kinder, which is a pretty good source of golf opinion—Ralph may some day become a golf pro when his playing days are done with the Yanks (which nine other A. L. clubs hope is not too distant).

Before journeying to Boonocks, U. S. A., on our first vacation here at the Record, there's a few items lying on the desk which City Editor Rob Clark, our replacement, would just as soon see cleared up. So, away they go:

From Jack Kist, head football coach at East Stroudsburg High School, is this note—Football equipment will be issued to all sophomores, juniors and seniors on Saturday, Aug. 17, at 9:30 a. m., at the high school. Freshmen will receive their equipment on Thursday, Aug. 29, at 8 p. m., at the high school.

Mouthpieces for all candidates, including freshmen, will be fitted on Aug. 15 and 16 at 6:30 p. m. in the high school. Seniors and juniors will be fitted on the 15th, and sophs and frosh will be fitted on the 16th.

Physical examinations will be given on Saturday, Aug. 17, at 1 p. m. for all candidates, including freshmen.

Tom Carson, member of the Monroe County Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs, has been appointed to the clean stream, mines and minerals committee of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. He was named to the post by David F. Paddock of Clarion, committee chairman.

The IBW Golf League, which recently held its annual mid-season tournament at Tannin, is now in its third season of operation. The 1963 officers are Charlie McMahon, president; Jim Bonser, vice president; Dick London, secretary, and Al Decker, treasurer.

The "Varsity S" junior football program is preparing for the 1963 season. Officials and coaches of the program plan to start conditioning drills the week of Aug. 19. This is the third of this program and each season has seen more than 100 participants.

Interest already is being generated among members of the "Varsity S" through small group meetings and the regular monthly club meetings.

"To get off to a good start," says Bill Schoonover, "two things are necessary."

1. Signaling of rosters by the players.

2. A turnout of all persons in coaching or assisting.

Rosters to be signed are available at the Stroudsburg Play-ground headquarters, Lin's Sports Shop, and Fifer's Stroudsburg Sporting Goods. All boys living in Stroud Union School District from grades 6-9, inclusive, who are interested in participating, are asked to sign up immediately.

A meeting will be held for all those interested in the program at the home of Jerry Stulgaitis Aug. 14 at 7 p. m. Persons interested in assisting as a coach are urged to attend.

There also will be a meeting at the Municipal Building Aug. 15 at 8 p. m. to finalize the program operations. All parents or participants are urged to attend this session.

And now, so long for a week.

LSU Athletic Director:

Fewer Teams May Strengthen SEC

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jim Corbett, athletic director of Louisiana State University, said Friday he felt the Southeastern Conference "conceivably could be strengthened" if some schools pulled out.

In an interview with sports writer Peter Finney of the New Orleans States-Item, Corbett discounted reports that the 12-member SEC is coming apart at the seams.

It was Corbett's first comment on reports that several SEC members — Georgia Tech, Tulane, Vanderbilt and possibly Florida—may quit of the Dixie dozen.

Youngster Keeps Tabs On Colts

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—Steve Rosenbloom, 18, stands on the sidelines at the Baltimore Colts training camp and writes down figures on a new table designed to improve the efficiency of the club's passing offense and defense.

His dad, Carroll Rosenbloom, is the owner of the National Football League team.

Young Rosenbloom, who at 5 feet-9 and 175 pounds is dwarfed by the beefy linemen on the field, keeps tabs on very pass thrown by quarterbacks John Unitas, Lamar Mcutan and Gary Cuozzo.

"It is a check on the coaching staff and the quarterbacks to see that we are not calling the same passes all the time," said Don McCafferty, offensive backfield coach.

"At the end of the day we read out the completion percentage, check on the number of dropped balls and who had them."

For the last couple years, some of the coaches had wanted to keep such a log, but clearance to do so wasn't given until this season when Don Shula succeeded Weeb Ewbank as head coach.

Chicago Jolts Giants, 12-11

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim Schaffer's two-out single in the 10th inning scored Ron Santo and gave the Chicago Cubs a 12-11 victory over the San Francisco Giants Friday after a six-run Cub rally in the eighth had tied the score. Santo started the winning rally off Don Larsen, the Giants' sixth pitcher, with a one-out double to right center. Ernie Banks was purposely passed and Ken Hubbs

Reds Blank Bucs Behind Maloney

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati right-hander Jim Maloney posted his 17th victory with a four-hitter and Vida Pinson cracked a three-run homer that provided all the runs in the Reds' 5-0 triumph over Pittsburgh Friday night.

Pinson's homer in the sixth broke a scoreless duel between Maloney and Don Cardwell, who allowed only three hits in the seven innings he worked. He got into trouble in the sixth when Pete Rose walked and he hit Jerry Harper with a pitch. Pinson then connected.

Home runs — San Francisco, Mays (25), Cepeda (20), Chicago, Williams (16), Burke (2), Burton (7).

West End Rolling

PMBL Race Tight For Cellar Teams

WITH West End rolling to its third straight Pocono Mountain Baseball League championship, the closest race in the circuit at the moment is the one for last-place honors where both Saylorburg and Bowmanstown are fairly solidly entrenched.

Both teams will be seeking to crawl out of that dank spot tomorrow when the PMBL resumes action.

The Lakers of Saylorburg have the toughest road to hoe in their efforts in that respect, however. They meet the high-riding Gilbert and not even the favorable aspect of playing on their own field changes matters much. West End seems to win just as easily away as they do at home.

On the Road
Bowmanstown, meanwhile, is also on the road for a meeting with the unpredictable Bushkill club of Manager Curt Hickman. Up one week, and down the next, Bushkill is at an even 500 record with seven wins and seven losses.

Second-place Stroudsburg is host to Reiders in the other league clash. Manager Dick Miller's club is two-and-a-half games behind the West Enders following last Sunday's defeat to the Gilbert team and that loss was a virtual crusher to the A's. However, second place is practically assured for Stroudsburg with Bushkill — their nearest competitors — three full games behind them.

Statistics — which frequently lie and even more often tell less than half-truths — offer two good reasons for the success of West End this year.

Forty-six Floyd (Red) Kresge is one. He is currently leading the league with a torrid 419 average which includes 26 hits in 62 at bats, 17 runs and 26 RBIs.

The other reason is John Churretta, the mound ace who has chalked up 10 victories against but one loss.

One wonders how the West Enders even lost two games this season with that combination which is the backbone of an otherwise strong team, both offensively and defensively.

Bushkill's Denny Patti is second to Kresge in the hitting department, smacking the ball at a .415 clip, while Stroudsburg's Jack Sommers is in the third spot with a .386 average. Sommers, however, has totaled 17 RBIs to Patti's eight.

West End — 13 2 .867
Stroudsburg — 10 4 .714 2 1/2
Bushkill — 7 7 .500 5 1/2
Reiders — 6 9 .400 7

U. S. Track Team Winds Up Tour

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. track team, a little travel weary, goes against a lightly regarded British squad Saturday and Monday in the wind-up of its overseas tour.

The Americans came here straight from Hannover, Germany, where they demolished a good, young West German team 141-82 Wednesday and Thursday, about as lop-sided a score as possible in these international contests.

Baseball Practice
BUSHKILL — The Bushkill team of the Pocono Mountain Baseball League will start practice today at 3:30 p.m. on the Bushkill field, Manager Curt Hickman announced yesterday.

The play gave the All-Stars a 20-10 advantage. With five seconds left in the game, played before a capacity crowd at Soldiers Field, Green Bays' Jim Taylor plunged across the goal line for the final score of the game.

The score was tied at the half, 10-10.

Northampton Tops Shawnee

SHAWNEE — The Shawnee Women's Golf Club yesterday dropped a 17-7 decision to the Northampton women on the Northampton course.

Mrs. H. T. Sales of Northampton shot a low gross 84 and Mrs. Henry Steckel of Northampton won low net honors with a 74.

Shawnee women who scored points were Diane Schlegel (21), Adelaide Sheble (2), Mrs. Walter McClelland (11 1/2), and Mrs. John Gould (1). Other Shawnee participants were Mrs. Harry Sykes, Betsy Peeney, Mrs. Arthur Ensler and Mrs. Robert Bixler.

Kelso Choice At Saratoga

Candy Spots Faces Rivals At Arlington

Rex Ellsworth's Candy Spots meets 13 rival 3-year-olds Saturday in the $100,000 added Arlington Classic, while Bohemia Stable's Kelso is an odds-on choice against eight other older horses in the $30,000 added Whitney Stakes at Saratoga.

A third big race on the program, the $100,000 guaranteed

Sapling Stakes at Monmouth Park, took a surprising turn when the heavily favored Raise A Native was injured during a Friday workout and was retired for the season. Instead of four expected starters, eight were entered for the 6-furlong Sapling when word of the mishap was spread around. Harriett N. Ball's Big Pete assumed the role of Sapling favorite.

Candy Spots, winner of the Preakness and four rich Derbies Santa Anita, Florida, Jersey and American—carries top weight of 126 pounds in the one mile Classic at Arlington Park. He is the 7-5 choice. His main rivals appear to be Elmendorf Farm's B. Major, 123, listed at 4-1, and Jaclyn Stable's Ahoj, with 120, a 6-1 selection.

A winner of $696,390, Candy Spots can pick up another $87,333 from the gross purse of $132,333 if he can win the 35th running of the Classic. His rider is Willie Shoemaker.

Kelso, horse of the year for the last three seasons, packs 130 pounds in the 1 1/4-mile Whitney, a race he won in 1961 as a 4-year-old with the same weight. He will be ridden by Ismael Valenzuela, and is a prohibitive 1-3 favorite as he concedes from 13 to 20 pounds.

Go At 6-1

Townsend B. Martin's Sunrise County, with 117, and Mrs. J.D. Alexander's Salsum, carrying 112 are both listed at 6-1.

If all eight start the Sapling will gross $104,960, with $62,976 for the winner.

Big Pete, to be ridden by Steve Brooks, is the 8-5 favorite for the Sapling, which closes out the Monmouth season.

Rated second choice at 5-2 is Claiborne Farm's Alphonse.

Roberts Tops Yankees For Orioles

NEW YORK (AP)—Robin Roberts, given his unconditional release by the New York Yankees early last season, beat his old mates for the third straight time Friday night, pitching Baltimore past the Yanks 5-3.

Roberts, 26-year-old right-hander dropped by the Yanks before he made one pitch in competition, halted the defending world champions on seven hits as the Orioles won their fourth straight.

John Powell hit a solo homer in the first for the Orioles and they took a 4-2 lead with a three-run burst in the fourth. A walk and singles by John Orsino and Jackie Brandt produced the first one, Brooks Robinson doubled in another and the third came home on Jim Gentile's grounder.

E-L Revives Phoebe Snow

EAST STROUDSBURG — Phoebe Snow is back. The darling of passengers of the Erie-Lackawanna Railroad luxury train made its first stop in East Stroudsburg yesterday after a side-railing retirement of nine months.

The return of Phoebe Snow is considered the first step in a long-range E-L program to upgrade passenger service.

Phoebe arrived in East Stroudsburg at noon after a journey from Hoboken, N.J. The crack E-L streamliner left the New Jersey starting point at 10:20 a.m. bound for Chicago. It left East Stroudsburg at 12:15 p.m.

Phoebe was the mainstay of the Lackawanna Railroad before the railroad's merger with Erie. Last October officials sent the train to the sidelines as an economy move.

Thursday's return was met with enthusiasm along the E-L lines as employees and "passenger" train watchers caught a glimpse of Phoebe making its way through the Poconos.

Telephone calls at East Stroudsburg, Pocono Summit hailed the return of the Hoboken to Chicago limited. The general comment was "Is it true Phoebe Snow is back? Things must be looking up for Erie-Lackawanna."

Imaginary Woman
Phoebe Snow is named for an imaginary woman dressed in white. She was started by the Lackawanna around 1900 to show off the cleanliness of the railroad's cars.

Although soft coal was the usual fuel then for steam engines, Phoebe Snow used hard coal, which caused less soot.

The reborn Phoebe Snow has an observation-lounge car, which was dropped before the train was discontinued. It has a dining car and two coaches and has been completely refurbished in its old maroon and gray colors.

Ticket Agent Henry Muschok at the East Stroudsburg Erie-Lackawanna station gave credit for the rebirth to William White, former Lackawanna president who has just returned to the Erie-Lackawanna as its chief executive officer.

"Mr. White put Phoebe Snow on the map to begin with, and now he is bringing her back to life," Muschok said.

Schedules
He said the train is running daily and Sunday on this schedule:

It leaves Hoboken, N.J., at 10:20 EST; leaves East Stroudsburg at 12:15 DST and then splits at Binghamton, N.Y.

The northern split arrives in Buffalo at 7:45 p.m. and connects with the Nickel Plate going west. The southern split, which will be the Phoebe Snow continuation, goes to Chicago through Jamestown, N.Y., arriving in Chicago at 8 a.m.

The Phoebe Snow then returns from Chicago, leaving daily at 6:05 p.m., arriving in East Stroudsburg at 4:27 p.m. the next afternoon, and in Hoboken at 6:25 p.m.

Vaneria Urges Closer Ties Between Education, Banks

CRESSO — John Vaneria of Cresco urged a better understanding between bankers and educators of the problems confronting bankers during a recent conference of the American Institute of Banking at Lancaster.

Vaneria, supervisor of the bookkeeping department at the Monroe Security and Trust Co., East Stroudsburg, and educational chairman of the Pocono Mountains chapter of the AIB, said the ultimate aim of a well-rounded school relations program is to have teachers take a greater interest in presenting the role of banking to students.

"The question Vaneria answered in his talk was 'Why School Relations?'"

Everyday Economy

"The need is to stress to the students, and to the general public, the effect of this role on the everyday economy of each individual," Vaneria added.

"The ultimate objective is to spread a broader knowledge of banking and economics to students and the public by planting the seeds of better understanding. A well presented program of school relations will educate the potential bank customer of tomorrow."

Vaneria pointed out the role of local committees in assisting the effective local education programs in connection with banking. "The support of these banks must be obtained if a school relations program is to succeed," he said.

Vaneria described the link between the banks and schools as "vital," and said that "a local recognized educator who is willing to work in the programming and presentation of all educational programs, would make an ideal link between the schools and the banks."

Educators Willing

In a review of the educators' point of view, Vaneria pointed out that the banker is a source of "experience, and is better qualified to speak on banking and related subject matter."

"Due to a short lack of qualified teachers in this field, there is a willingness on the part of educators to accept a well rounded program presented by the banking profession."

Vaneria added that "The educator sees the role of the banker as being essential in clearing up the misconceptions and misunderstandings of the banking business. . . . In a school relations program it can be brought out that banks are corporations . . . and play a vital part in the American capitalist system."

"The educator sees more students being given a chance by their parents . . . to develop a greater sense of responsibility, through the maintenance and operation of checking accounts, charge accounts . . . and money matters in general."

"The net result of school relations programs will be to build a better public relations between bankers, educators, students, and the public. Banks should strive to improve their own image, through establishing scholarships; encouraging their employees, and paying the tuition of those who wish to further their education, similar to many large corporations and public utility companies," Vaneria concluded.

Provisions Of New State School Reorganization Act

HARRISBURG (AP)—Here are the salient provisions of the voluminous school reorganization act passed finally by the House and sent to Gov. Scranton for his signature.

Repeals the controversial School Reorganization Act (561) of 1961.

Each county school board shall submit to the State Board of Education by July 1, 1964 a plan of reorganization of new school districts of 4,000 pupils or more except:

—“When factors of topography, pupil population, community characteristics, transportation of pupils, use of existing school buildings, existing administrative units, potential population changes, and the capability of providing a comprehensive program of education” warrant smaller districts in the board’s opinion.

—The county may submit as an alternative a plan with no more districts and none smaller than continued in the county plans approved by the now-defunct State Council of Education prior to Sept. 12, 1961 (under a 1947-based program).

(The board must approve such alternative plans if they comply with the stipulation about no more districts and none smaller than the previously approved plans.)

If no plan is approved by Jan. 1, 1965, the Department of Public Instruction shall present a plan to the board.

On July 1, 1966, all approved plans become effective.

This includes the three jointures and Stroud Union in Monroe County.

Counties which submitted plans under the 1961 reorganization plans to the board and ultimately to the courts.

The State Board of Education must adopt standards for reorganization within the provisions of the act within 90 days of the effective date of the act.

(The effective date is immediately upon the governor’s approval).

Debts of the school districts in each new unit become the debts of the entire unit, except that a debt representing operating deficiencies (as opposed to debts for such things as building construction) shall continue to be obligation of the district that incurred it and the residents of the old district will be subject to a special tax assessment until the operating debt is paid off.

School boards of the new districts will consist of nine members, chosen either on an at-large basis or by dividing the district into three or nine regions.

Incumbent directors of present school districts shall serve out their terms.

An interim board shall set up the new district, taking office on Jan. 15 preceding the date of the new district’s establishment. The interim board will be chosen from among the incumbent board members at a convention.

The incumbents not selected for the interim board will serve in an advisory capacity.

New school administrators shall be chosen by the interim board.

Administrators of the old districts not appointed to similar posts in the new district shall be assigned other administrative or supervisory duties in the district.

Any approved new school district may choose to begin operations in the 1964-65 or 1965-66 school years rather than wait for the July 1, 1966 effective date.

When the new district is established it shall receive a state subsidy based on $800 per teaching (classroom) unit, adjusted according to the district’s ability to pay its own way.

Bonuses to Terminate

All reorganization bonuses now in effect shall terminate after the 1965-66 school year. All districts, including existing districts authorized to stand alone, will receive the new subsidy bonus.

THANK YOU . . .

for your support in the special election, July 30th. To those who voted for me, I renew my pledge to give you and ALL the people of the 15th District, the best representation possible. To those who did not support my candidacy, my sincere thanks for going to the polls and making this one of the largest voter turnouts in our recent history.

He Helped Me See Life Through . . .

The eyes OF GOD

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

I was a little girl, then. The pews at our church were rough wooden benches, and my feet wouldn't reach the floor.

But, as though it were yesterday, I remember his sermon. About a woman who poured oil on the feet of Jesus. Some people said this was a wasteful thing to do. The oil was expensive; the money might have been given to the poor . . . But Jesus wasn't angry with the woman!

"In the eyes of God," our old minister said, "the most precious treasure is the love in a human heart."

No single thought has influenced my life more than that one. Most of my happiness — all of my strength when sorrows come — have been somehow entwined with that simple truth. I shudder at times to think; what if that day I had not been there?

A sermon, a prayer, a Bible passage does not touch the same chord in every heart. But as you seek each Sunday to see life through the eyes of God, there will come mighty visions stirring the depths of your soul.

Unemployment Down In State

HARRISBURG (AP)—Total unemployment in Pennsylvania in mid-July was 324,000—its lowest point for that period in the last six years—the State Labor and Industry Department reported yesterday.

The total was 21,000 lower than the June figure and represented 7.0 per cent of the work force as compared to a 7.4 percentage for June.

Unemployment for mid-July over the last 10 years has been lower only in 1967, when 307,000—or 6.4 per cent of the work force—were out of jobs.
